In this 1998-1999 year, Muhlenberg College began to make some changes to improve the campus. Muhlenberg began this renovation with the athletic fields and then reached beyond the exterior and began with the interior — the faculty, administration, and student body.

With the improvements in our athletic fields, our athletic teams began to break a number of records, our student body began setting new standards and our faculty gained a new outlook for the students' academic achievement. Overall, Muhlenberg began Breaking New Ground in all areas of campus life while creating room for new ideas for the further development of the campus community.

HOMECOMING

This year's Homecoming Weekend, to say the least, was an overwhelming success. The weekend was kicked off by the Homecoming parade, in which fraternities, sororities, and independent organizations marched with their homemade floats. Next, was the big Homecoming football game against Swarthmore. Students, alumni, and parents watched the Mules kick into action, winning the game 41-6. Another exciting event during the game was the crowning of the Homecoming king and queen. Elected on the basis of student selection, panels, and interviews, Elmer Moore, Jr. and Alison McConomy were the two seniors awarded this honor.

That evening, fresh from the overall sports teams' victories, the student body celebrated with the annual Homecoming Dance. Students danced and socialized under a tent on Brown Mall, dressed in everything from jeans to tuxedos. A fun time was had by all on Homecoming Weekend 1998.

New Memories

By Melissa Derr

Family Weekend is the change for family and friends to glimpse at the life of Muhlenberg students. Discussion sessions about the transition from the child to college, titled "Letting Go," were also organized. These events, which took place over the course of two days, were widely attended and overwhelmingly enjoyed. In addition to these scheduled activities, Family weekend gave students the chance to eat a free meal off-campus, or take that much needed trip to the mall. Overall, Family weekend 1998 was a huge success and will always be highly anticipated annual Muhlenberg event.

MIKADO

A Night of Laughter: "The Mikado"

By Jarad Benn

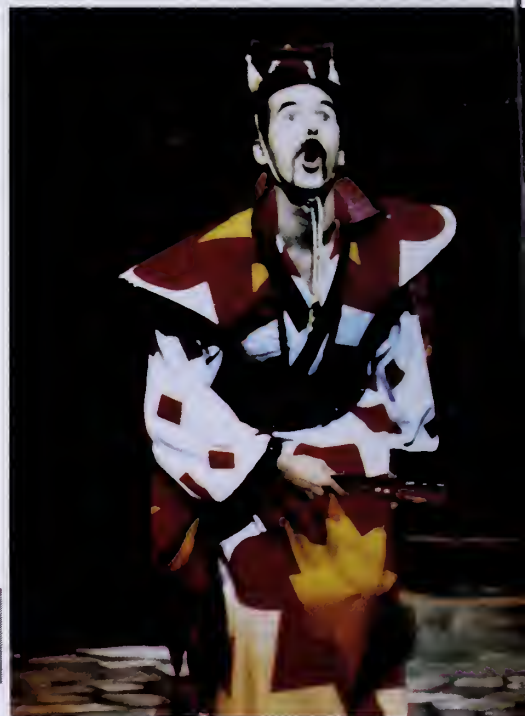

The families of Muhlenberg were in for a treat on family weekend, as the Muhlenberg Theatre Association delighted young and old with a performance of the Gilbert and Sullivan classic, "The Mikado." Set in ancient Japan, the operetta revolves around the establishment of arbitrary law by the Japanese government. In this story, the Mikado of Japan has just established a new law declaring that anyone who is caught flirting, will be executed by beheading, what is a young prince to do? To avoid further complications with his father, Nanki-poo, son of the Mikado dresses as a wandering minstrel to gain the ability to unite with his beloved, Yum-Yum (the name is no accident). However the story takes a dramatic turn, as Nanki-poo learns that Yum-Yum is only to be married to the newly appointed Lord High Executioner of Titipuu, Ko-Ko. I know you are all thinking, MY GOD IN HEAVEN WHAT HAPPENS TO NANKI-POO? Well folks, do not worry, Nanki-Poo finds a way, and in the end, gets to marry Yum-Yum.

Directed by Charles Richter, Head of the MTA and with the talent and grace of Musical Director, Ken Butler, "The Mikado" entertained audiences for a total of nine shows in two weeks. Richter and Butler took a new approach to casting this show by double casting — where two casts performed on different nights for the entire run of the show. But whichever cast was seen, a fabulous show was in store, and I think I can speak for the Muhlenberg Community when I say, thumbs up for this uninhibited romp!

David Kapner, the other Mikado, opens his arms to his kingdom of followers as he sings "A More Humane Mikado."

Below: Brian Sherman looking very stately as the Mikado, gives us his version of "A More Humane Mikado." And for those asking if he is supposed to look that stately, the answer is yes!

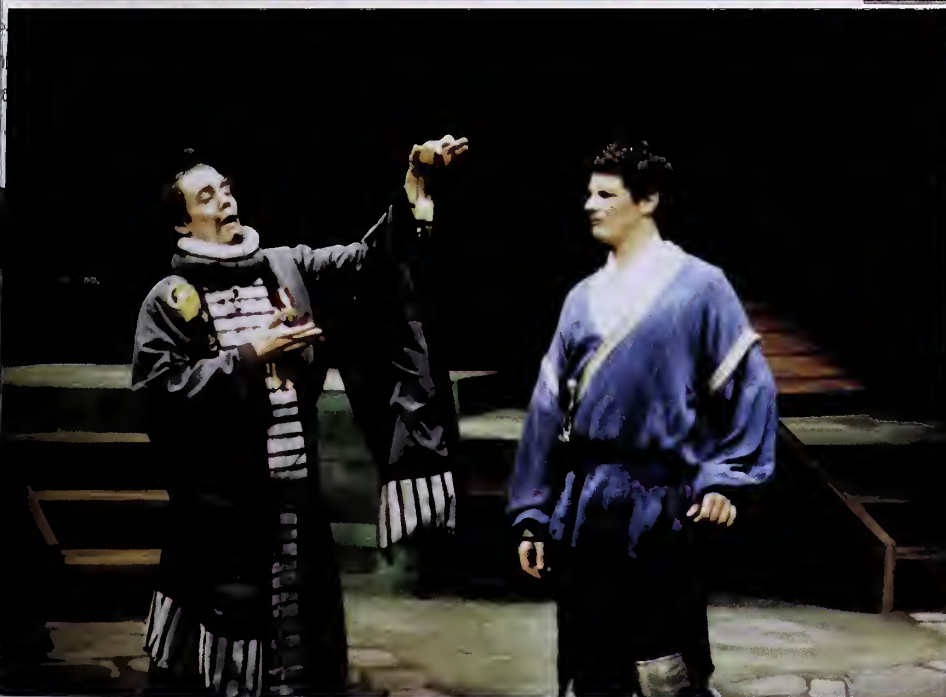

Left: Rachel Shapiro, Ryan Gardner, Skip, Brian Sherman, Marci Kauffman all adding their special something to the Gilbert and Sullivan craziness as the plot of "The Mikado" unfolds.

Right: Marci Kauffman desperately seeks the pity of the court of Titipuu.

BLUES TRAVELER RETURNS

By Megan Woodcock

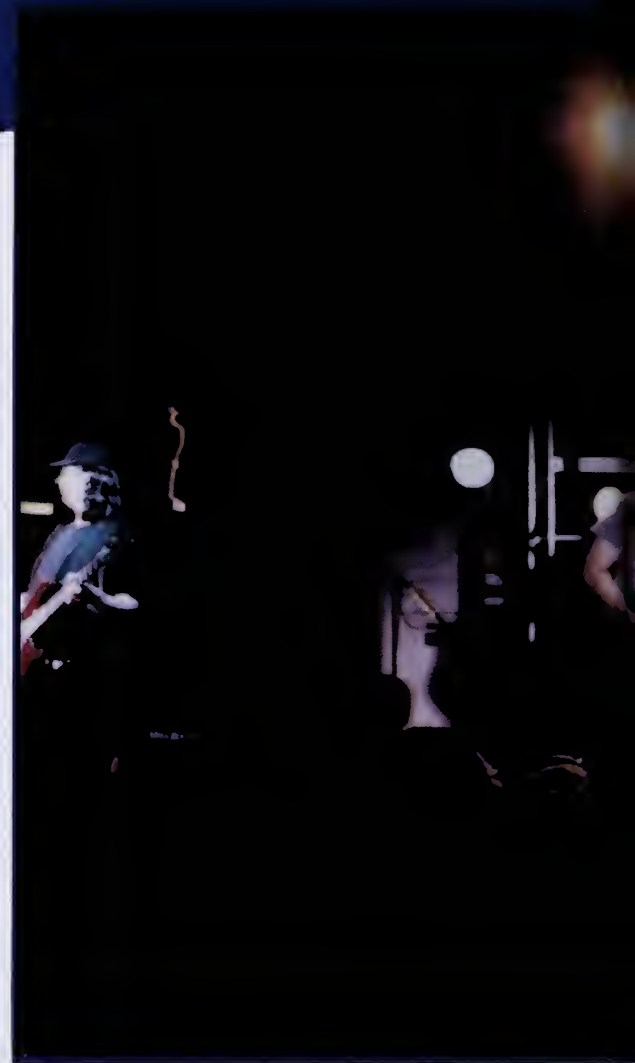

The Muhlenberg Concert Board arranged for the Grammy award-winning band "Blues Traveler" to perform in Memorial Hall on October 12th. The band is famous for their live performances which number over 250 per year; thus, attracted many of the Muhlenberg community. Though preparations started months before the rush started that morning as many volunteers showed up to set up the stage area for the bands. The stage slowly took shape in the wee hours of the morning. By 7:00 pm the doors open to the public and the gym quickly fill with people all roaring to see Blues Traveler.

After the performance of the Michael Parrish band, Blues Traveler took stage and the crowd took life. John Popper, the frontman singer, guitarist, and harmonica player began to sing back up by . The band played Hook, Run-Around, Stand, along with some lesser know songs such as Brother John. As they finished their last set, the crowd gave them a thunderous applause. It was a great night on the Muhlenberg campus.

UNINVITED GUESTS

Muhlenberg Welcomes The Uninvited Guests

by Christina Buu

Comprised of 7 Muhlenberg Students, the Uninvited Guests have been taking college campuses by storm. After their success at the Skidmore College Comedy Festival, Clark University, Moravian College, and Allentown College, this group has been reaching that extra mile to not only entertain the crowd, but also raise money for charity. This year, the group collected more than $900 for the underprivileged children in the Boy's and Girls' club of Allentown.

The Uninvited Guests, Elmer Moore '99, Dan DeBlasio '99, Sam Stein '00, Ian Alderman '00, Kenny Baldino '00, Ryan Gardner '00 and Ruben Ortiz '00 are a diverse group of students whose majors range from Art and Dance to Philosophy and American Studies.

Above: The Uninvited Guests attracted crowd of more than 500, filling the Garden Room to its maximum capacity, causing a delay in the performance due to a lack of seating. Their performance also won the "Event of the Year" at the Henry Awards.

— During the service of the lights, the ushers come forward and the congregation remains standing until the end of the service.

— Don King takes a moment to absorb the sounds of the audience as they sing "Oh Holy Night."

— The crowded chapel rings with the holiday spirit in one of the most highly attended functions of the year.

— With the lighting of each candle in the Service of Lights, the chapel grows brighter giving each bearer a chance to meet their neighbor.

— Curtis Dretsch delivers his inspirational reading for the holiday season in Saturday's service. Arthur Taylor and Mrs. Taylor '99, delivered the Third Lesson, in the Friday service.

A Bright New Star

By Christina Buu

During the days of December 12, 13, and 14, 1999, the Egner Memorial Chapel transformed its modest interior into a representation of the holiday spirit. In its 42nd Advent-Christmas Carol Service, the Muhlenberg community opened its arms to welcome in the Christmas season with carols and Bible readings, which tell the Story of Christ's birth. The service is an adaptation of the Festival of Lessons and Carols of King's College, Cambridge University in England. Muhlenberg's College, Chapel, and Bell choirs performed during the service with such numbers as "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence," which both the College and Handbell Choir performed.

Proceeds from the collection were distributed to Lutheran World Relief to help the survivors of Hurricane Mitch, Lehigh Valley AIDS Outreach and Allentown's 6th Street Shelter.

— Zarabeth Parker '01 sings her solo in the Muhlenberg Choir performance of "In the Bleak Midwinter."

— "...And so ends the reading." Chris Roberti delivers his reading of the First Lesson- Isaiah 40:1-11.

— A Senior at Muhlenberg, Chris Katrinak plays "O Holy Night" on her saxophone for the prelude of the service. She is also a member of the Chapel Choir and the Handbell Choir.

Winter's Tale

Shakespeare's A Winter's Tale is a story of a jealous king who suspects his wife of having an affair with his best friend from childhood who is also a king. Consumed by his own jealousy he throws his pregnant wife in jail despite the truth of her fidelity. When King Leontes eventually sees his fault his wife, son, and newborn daughter are lost.

Directed by Peter Wallace, this tale contains some of the best women's roles in all of Shakespeare. This young band of actors tackled a challenging play with incredible passion and light-hearted humor. They deserve great applause for their achievement.

Blood Brothers

Directed by Robert Grobman '99, Blood Brothers tells the timeless tale of a family struggling to make ends meet in a country where a severe division of class structure dominates the people. Initially, Willy Russell's story served as a device to aid the children of Liverpool to cope with the numerous factory closings.

The story revolves around twin boys separated and raised by different mothers on opposite ends of the British class system. Twins, Mickey Johnstone and Edward Lyons are destined to meet and forever affect one another's lives in this contemporary musical.

Right: Mrs. Johnstone, played by Amy Armstrong, mourns over the loss of her children during the final scenes of the performance.

A New Event?

by Christina Buu

Replacing Benfer Bash and East Fest due to the construction of the Dorothy Baker theater, Spring Fling stepped up to the plate in a trial run. Organized by Presidential Assistant Kristin Conboy '99, the event included activities such as a Pie Throw, a comedian musician, a band, Jello Wrestling, games such as jousting, which doubled as a bouncing arena, and a Lip Sync contest, which was also the most popular event at Spring Fling.

Cramming the stage into a corner of the tent, Lip Sync participants performed in front of an audience of more than 800. The Lip Sync was also an event for Greek Week '99. Each house received participation points for entering the contest and no more points were awarded if a team won the event. In this years performance the winners were in third place with "Time Warp" from Rocky Horror Picture Show, ΦΜ. ΣΦΕ took second place with "It's Raining Men" by the Weather Girls. The girls of ΔΖ won the show with their performance of "Cell Block Tango" from the musical Chicago.

— Mark Shnorhokian represents his fraternity in his daring display of courage at the Phi Mu pie throw during Spring Fling.

— These freshmen girls went to battle during a new event this year, Jello Wrestling.

— With their performance of "It's Raining Men" during the Spring Fling Lip Sync, the brothers of Sig Ep won 2nd Place. That skirt on Ruben doesn't look half bad either.

— The Granny Rapper, Jessica McCourt, lip syncs her way through "Rappers Delight" from the movie The Wedding Singer.

SPRING FLING

— The crowd grows larger as more contestants and interested audience members arrive for the All-Campus Lip Sync.
— Sarah Sibbach '01 and her ΔZ sisters in their performance of the Cell Block Tango from Chicago, which won them the first place spot.

— Can it be? It's the Village People represented by the Student Activities Office.

— The MC, Josh Northridge, announces the first act for the night.

100, 50, & 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ DAYS

— So, Meghan...how much have you had to drink? Carolyn Smith, Gwendolyn Sarver, and Meghan Herz have a little fun during 33 $\frac{1}{3}$  Days.

— Meredith Cole, Carey Hilton, Joanne Strug, Melissa Campbell, and Kristin Conboy pause to capture a moment on film.

— Tiffany Griffin, Betsy Anderson, Nicole Hanson, Jill Fornal, and Jennifer Grosse at "50 Days."

— Gwen DeYoung and Kerri-Lynn Young hold up the bar at the Main Gate in Allentown.

'TIL GRADUATION

“It is one of the blessings of old friends that you can afford to be stupid with them.”

Ralph Waldo Emerson

— Lizzie Gliech, Jeff Brydzinski and Chris Subbio enjoyed the fun at 100 Days.

— Megan Brown, Kelly Sczerba and Kiki Stensrud at the bar for 100 days.

— Jen Morgan, Kristin Conboy, JoAnne Strug, Carrie Frohling, and Melissa Campbell raise their cups to celebrate the occasion of 100 days until graduation.

— Josh sure seems like he's having a good time with Patrick Boyle and Tade Reen.

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT

A Cry in the Night

By Christina Buu

Con a cool night in March, the women and friends of Muhlenberg participated in an event which would be unforgettable for many of the participants. The night was a chance for every woman to act out against the violence which they have suffered. Chants rang out loud and everyone could hear the cries of, "Fight, Fight, Take Back the Night!"

Organized by S.A.G.E. (Students Advocating Gender Equality) president, Katherine Richmond '00 the night included the march around campus as well as a open discussion period in the chapel, which participants told their stories of strife and triumph. The stories told within those walls will always remain between the listeners and the speakers.

Below: Leading the group, Beth Rowley '99 joins the march to increase the awareness of the violence brought against women.

Left: Not all participants shouted for the awareness, some remained silent throughout the march to respect the nature of the cause.

FIRST YEAR STUDENTS

"We have come a long way, and it has been one fine year. No matter how much advice our friends from college gave us last year, we had to experience Muhlenberg ourselves...re-evaluating priorities, trying convictions, talking & being heard...finally. Here's to many more great years!"

This has been everything I've ever wanted and more; I just hope this dream can continue."

Accounting/Business/Economics

The Accounting/Business/Economics department at Muhlenberg College is breaking new ground in the further and continuing development of its program. In the Accounting Department, students prepare for a various careers in public accounting, business and industry, as well as careers within the non-profit organization. The Accounting department has now instilled a 150 Semester-Hour option for its graduates, which parallels the encouragement from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Fifty percent of our Graduates within the Accounting department have succeeded to the "Big Six" accounting firms in recent years. The Business department has just included three new concentrations to their business major, they are human resource, management science and information sciences, as well as managerial finance. An Economics major now has the opportunity to follow a new international economics program as well as the general economics and finance tracks. All students within these departments have the opportunity to become part of the Maastricht Education Abroad program, to study at the University of Maastricht during the spring semester of their junior year.

Muhlenberg combines the best of art school with that of the small liberal arts experience. The Art Department offers a strong curriculum in art history and studio arts to approximately 40 majors, and new ground was broken with the recent addition of a minor. Each April, graduating seniors participate in mounting a student exhibition that spotlights their own artistic achievements. Another example of the department's dedication to its students is the faculty tradition of inviting a professional artist to an informal dinner and critique with students. In conjunction with this facet of learning, the department also sponsors trips to Philadelphia and New York City museums and art galleries.

The faculty of this small department more than make up for it in professional achievement. This list includes successful sculptors, art historians, photographers, and painters. They are therefore well-qualified to give their students the best art education available.

In professions ranging from the positions within the government to health care, students gain the knowledge from Muhlenberg. The evidence lies in the 74% acceptance rate from this past year's seniors to medical school and graduate programs. To further this success, the Biology department also constructed a new computer lab adjacent to Shankweiler 25. Equipped with advanced hardware and software for genetics and statistical analysis, the lab contributes to the faculty project-based curriculum, which helps students gain extra experience needed in the future.

CHEMISTRY

Dr. Bruce Anderson
Asst. Professor of Chemistry

Dr. Marsha Baar
Assoc. Professor of Chemistry

Dr. Christine Ingersoll
Asst. Professor of Chemistry

The Chemistry department began breaking new ground with the continuance of the Molecule of the year project. Held on the suitable date of April 22, 1999, also known as Earth Day, students and faculty joined together to discuss and explore the chemistry, biochemistry, biological and social impact of this toxine. The project, which is a mini-symposium functions as a bridge between science and non-s science students and faculty, by giving them a common theme on which to work. This year's Molecule of the year was Methyl Bromide, a soon to be banned fumigant. With the collaboration of the Accounting, Business, Economics, Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Science, Language, Psychology, and Political Science

Dr. Donald Shive
Professor of Chemistry
Head of the Dept.

Dr. Marion Smith

departments, students and faculty members debated on the benefits and hazards of Methyl Bromide.

As for the Chemistry majors, the Chemistry department has developed a curriculum, which accommodates students' various interests. Combining CHEMISTRY with supporting work in Biology is an appropriate program for furthering studies in medicine, government service, law, sales, and pharmaceutical studies. The chemistry department has upheld a tradition at Muhlenberg creating the ideal environment for learning.

COMMUNICATIONS

The communication field encompasses traditional media such as newspaper, radio, and television, as well as the Internet and other new forms of information technology. The department offers courses that address both the theory and practice of communication. Along with traditional courses such as writing and multimedia production, majors can take hands-on courses like Video Production and Writing for the Media. The goal of the department is to offer a scholarly and systematic approach to understanding how communication works, acts, and how we become "humanized" and encultured. Some interesting opportunities offered to students is DJ and engineering positions through WMUH, the campus radio station, writing and photography jobs on The Muhlenberg Weekly newspaper, and access to the school's television studio and multimedia facilities.

The Education Department at Muhlenberg offers certification programs in elementary and secondary teaching, making it one of the most popular non-major programs. Education students, along with distribution and other major or minor requirements, must take a series of education courses, in conjunction with semester field-work placements. In order to prepare for student teaching in senior year, students are placed in Allentown School District as teacher aides. As a result, Muhlenberg has a long-established reputation for graduating teacher-certified students are very well prepared for their future in academics.

ENGLISH

Muhlenberg's English department offers a variety of courses and services to a broad constituency of students: writing intensive seminars, for first-year students; general literature courses designed for non-majors; a representative array of literature offerings for students who major or minor in English; courses in writing of poetry, plays, fiction, to name a few. Special courses for English students, such as the Living Writers course and intensive programs such as the Writers at Muhlenberg program (offered alternating years) bring celebrated writers of fiction, and poetry to campus on a regular basis to teach and read from their work.

New courses such as Introduction to English Studies (IES) have added innovation to the department. IES is a required course for new English majors as they create a foundation for their studies. Majors can focus on certain genres of literature from different backgrounds, ranging from Irish, African-American, Indian, Native-American, and the work of Women writers. The ten full-time faculty members are all actively engaged in such professional activities, as book reviewing, scholarly research and publication, and creative writing, making Muhlenberg's English department well-trained and advocates for English studies.

Foreign Languages & Literatures

Muhlenberg is "a good place to study foreign languages," according to a recent report from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The strength of the department accounts for the fact that there are usually 60 to 80 majors and minors in French, German, Russian, and Spanish combined. Many of these students are double majors, who pair foreign language with other fields of study in order to prepare them for careers in communications, foreign trade, banking, government, and teaching, to name a few.

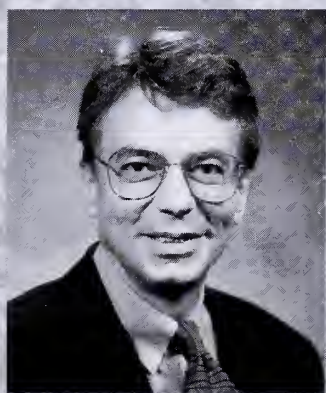

During their time at Muhlenberg, students can also take three levels of Hebrew, Italian, and Latin. The department has been Breaking New Ground for quite awhile by offering the Language Learning Center to language students of all levels. This computer lab specializes in interactive software programs, designed by the professors themselves. The programs teach students about the culture, history, and fables of the countries whose language they are studying. Some programs even show pictures of language professors' trips to countries such as Mexico, Spain, and France.

The Foreign Language department also provides an array of special interest language and culture clubs for interested students. Activities offered by the department include original language plays and an annual Foreign Language recital. The plays also function as a fun way for majors and faculty to socialize with each other in an informal setting.

The history major at Muhlenberg has recently been revised. The major is designed to introduce the students to the principles of historical study, to provide them with the tools to become an effective researcher and writer, and to deepen their knowledge and understanding of the past. Significant emphasis is put on reading original texts and scholarship written by historians. Most courses also emphasize the interpretation of the past and the ability to present one's analysis in persuasive prose.

The History department attempts to offer a wide range of advanced courses to emphasize their strengths in Ancient History, European History from the medieval period to the present, Latin America, and the United States. Emphasis on field trips to the battlefield at Gettysburg, Colonial Philadelphia, and Valley Forge, also enables the Muhlenberg History major "hands-on" experience in the field.

The Math major offers several tracks, including preparation for graduate studies, math for employment upon graduation, and courses leading to certification in elementary and secondary school math education. The computer science major prepares students for graduate work or work within the industry. There are in-depth courses in computer language, electronics, and design. "The strength of this department lies in the broad experience of its faculty members in their accessibility to students," says professor John Meyer. Student research is encouraged, and a number of students have presented papers at national conferences. Among special programs, there is an active math club, and a student-to-student tutoring program.

Music

Dr. Ted Conner

The major in music develops basic musical skills expected of any serious musician. It will prepare students for advanced work in performance, composition, musicology, theory, music librarianship, church music, arts administration, music sales and publishing, music therapy, college and private teaching, and graduate studies. For students wishing to prepare for teaching music in the public schools, a cooperative program leading to certification is available through Moravian College. On its own terms, the music major program is designed to provide students with a broad and comprehensive background in music, assuring the continuation of learning and achievement, whether in a formal graduate program or not. Equal emphasis is placed upon music performance, historical studies, and theory. The music major also must pass an audition in the major applied music area before acceptance as a major, ensuring the success of every Muhlenberg music major.

The Philosophy Department at Muhlenberg offers both a major and a minor in Philosophy. The major consists of nine courses, not more than one of which can come from Introductory Courses. Included must be one Logic course, two courses in the History of Philosophy (normally "Ancient Philosophy" and "Modern Philosophy"), either two courses in Systematic Areas or one course in Systematic Areas and one course in 20th Century Philosophy, and a departmental Seminar. This major, consisting of appropriate philosophy and political science courses, examines the state, its functions, justifications, and ideological foundations.

Muhlenberg College maintains a physical education requirement of two semesters with emphasis on the wellness concept defined as a deliberate effort to stay healthy and achieve the highest potential for total well-being.

Physical education courses are divided into theory courses, fitness activities and lifetime activities. Fitness activities are those courses which contribute to the basic components of fitness, which include cardiovascular endurance, muscular endurance, muscular strength, flexibility, and body composition. Lifetime activities contribute to the social and emotional well-being of the student by emphasizing recreational competence, life time sport skills, and techniques for stress management.

Physics

Studying physics at Muhlenberg increases the development of deductive and analytical reasoning and also provides an understanding of natural phenomena. The Physics program is the study of problem solving, and a preparation for students who plan on furthering their education in graduate studies and the infinitely changing technological world.

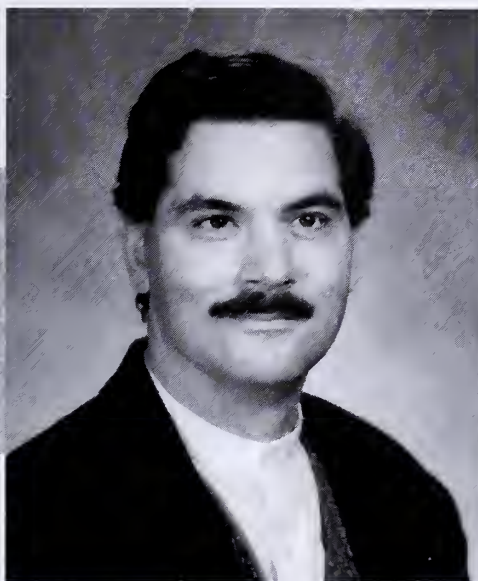

As a major, each student has a strong background in classical and modern physics enhanced by good lab experience with their instructors. Physics students from Muhlenberg College have become successful engineers, bankers, computer specialists, teachers and business executives. With the education from Muhlenberg they had the chance to attend Graduate programs at Clemson University, Boston University, Columbia University and have also acquired positions in notable businesses, such as AT&T Bell Laboratory and various government agencies.

Dr. Alton Slane
Professor of Political Science
Head of the P.S. Department

“*P*olitics in the broadest sense connects with everything we do. Just pick up a newspaper, or watch the evening news.” says Charles Bedner, head of the Political Science Department. This connection accounts for the large number of double majors who go on to the country’s top law and business schools, government service jobs, banking, and teaching. The department is large enough to cover the major subdisciplines of the field, but small enough to provide a lot of personal attention. There are programs that provide internships and research projects with local and county agencies, and with law firms around the area. Another program offered is the Washington Semester, giving students the opportunity to break new ground in new settings. The program enables students to see exactly what they can do with their major, in our nation’s capitol.

The strength of the psychology department lies within the faculty. They are excellent teachers as well as productive researchers. Students earn course credits by working with the faculty as research assistants and in some cases, collaborators. Students often co-author papers with faculty that are presented at national and regional conferences. Many Muhlenberg psychology students give presentation of their own research at the annual Undergraduate Psychology Conference of the Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges.

Psychology majors at Muhlenberg have the opportunity to undertake internships with area organizations and agencies to add another important dimension to the program. In the past students have elect to do adolescent counseling or behavioral research at the Lehigh Valley hospital.

The department anticipates further changes in the year to come and looks forward to going from strength to strength.

Sociology/Anthropology

Dr. William Abruzzi
Professor of Sociology and Anthropology
Department Head

While there is no formal anthropology major at Muhlenberg College, students wishing to concentrate in anthropology may schedule an anthropology sequence as part of either the sociology or the social science major, or propose an interdisciplinary self-designed major. The goal of the anthropology curriculum at Muhlenberg College is to acquaint the student with the unique perspective that anthropology offers towards an understanding of the human condition.

The purpose of social work is to have students at a liberal arts college explore the concepts, values and skills necessary to understand the need for constructive social services and to apply these to human needs. Social work combines theories and empirical knowledge from a wide range of disciplines to apply them in society, rather than to obtain "knowledge for knowledge's sake".

The Muhlenberg College experience offers a direct learning partnership among faculty and students in the classroom, the laboratory and the performance studio. Muhlenberg offers the opportunity to foster the most important goal of the liberal arts education -the education of the whole person.

The Department of Theatre and Dance has successfully developed an award-winning program in the theatre arts and dance within the context of a high quality liberal arts education. Study of theatre and dance at Muhlenberg College is designed to serve a wide ranging population from beginners interested in broadening their education to advanced students pursuing careers in the performing arts.

Theatre and Dance programs at Muhlenberg College are also uniquely a cultural resource for the college, an entertainment center for the campus, and a community arts center recognized by the thousands of Lehigh Valley audiences who attend.

The Student Council was lead by President: Lisa Ansorge, Vice-president: Jason Donnelly, Corresponding Secretary: Aaron Dorfman, Finance: Jodi Siegel, Recording Secretary: Kenyamo McFarlane. The council was further supported by Lizzie Gliech, Ayla Tezel, Chris McClary, Jen Zwirn, Stefan Miller (Class of 1999), Jillian Lovejoy, Ruben Ortiz (Class of 2000), Scott Davies, Alexis Krum (Class of 2001), Autumn Arnold, Elias Saratovsky, Kristen DiLorenzo, Jackie Shapiro, Evan Karp, and Christopher Titze (Class of 2002). This year Student Council sponsored several events for the student body of Muhlenberg. Events such as the first Mr. Muhlenberg Contest and the Henry Awards added a certain charm to the campus atmosphere.

CLASS OF 1999

Secretary Jill Fornal, Vice President Kellie McVeigh, President Jamie Hollender, Treasurer Jay Faigenbaum

The Senior Class Council conducted their annual t-shirt sale as a fundraiser in September. The Silent Auction, held during Family Weekend, was a huge success. With the support of the students, parents, faculty and friends of the college, the senior class raised over $5,000. Pub nights were held every Thursday night throughout the year and were very well-attended. "100 Days" and "50 Days" also brought out a huge crowd. The Class Pledge Drive surpassed their goal of $10,000. The money will go towards their gift, a new ticketbooth and entrance way to the stadium. May 1st marked the Senior Ball at Split Rock Resort. Congratulations and good-luck to everyone.

Class of 2000

Row 1: Carlos Munoz (President), Jennifer Kloin (Secretary), Drew Bitterman (Treasurer) Missing: Angelica Pinna-Perez (Vice President)

The Class of 2000 is planning for the millenium celebrations as they look forward to their senior year. As they hope to follow the class of 1999's success in fundraising and unity in their future and leave their mark of excellence on Muhlenberg's campus as is tradition.

Class of 2001

Row 1: Julia DeWolf, Alexis Krum, Maren Conway Row 2: Jodi Siegel, Erin Cunningham, Ryan Kaplan Absent: Sarah Groner

The Class of 2001 organized the Mr. Muhlenberg Pageant which was a huge success and attracted over 500 people. They, also, fundraised for the class with t-shirts, blue books, class letters asking parents for donations and sending Valentine candy grams. Class President Kaplan: "We strived to bring together the Class of 2001 while implementing fundraisers to support activities and and other senior projects."

Class of 2002

Row 1: Candance Raio, Devon Segel, Cara Restaono Row 2: Ken Takeyama

With the growing Muhlenberg Campus, the Class of 2002 contributed to the new needs of the campus. The Class of 2002 were closer and stronger making their presence known on campus with their winning attitudes and personalities. Events such as the 2002 Ice Cream Social and their 'Lite Bites' fundraisers helped to make the Class a leader on Muhlenberg's campus.

CIARLA

In a new year, the Muhlenberg College yearbook, Ciarla also went under new leadership. Headed by Christina Buu, the new Editor-in-Chief, the student publication fell within green hands. The staff of 9 consistent members helped plan and create this year's 107 volume of Ciarla. With huge mailers sent to every parent or guardian about contributions for the Parent Pride section or yearbook orders the staff worked together to raise money for a better quality yearbook.

With more color and originality this year's book will be a remembrance of the Class of 1999, celebrating their achievements and capturing their memories to the best of their ability. Senior Photography Editor, Dennis Slade, can be well recognized for his dedication and talent to not only Ciarla, but his many other organizations on campus. He will be sorely missed on our yearbook staff and we wish him the best of luck in the future. Andrea Nylund '02 will be teaming up with Melissa Targum '02 in a co-editorship for next year's book. We wish them the best of luck in their efforts to keep Ciarla a well recognized publication on campus.

WMUH

WMUH blasts the music at the Fall Carnival .

In the years of 1998-1999, WMUH celebrated it's 50th anniversary in the same year of Muhlenberg College's 150th Sesquicentennial Celebration. The aging radio station has hosted many speakers and served as the announcers for many of the sports events on campus. Their variety of music and talented Disc Jockeys have added a flavor all of it's own on the air waves of Muhlenberg. WMUH also provided the music for many of the events on campus such as the MAC sponsored Carnival. Recently, the station has installed it's second satellite downlink to receive Kutztown University Band broadcasts. The Equipment was supplied by a grant from the Pacifica Radio Network. WMUH is now on the web, where anyone with RealAudio® functions can listen to 91.7 WMUH and hear the fun.

Station Manager Alex McTighe and Tom Simon pick the music to play.

The Muhlenberg College Chapel Choir is an SATB choir, under the direction of Mr. Stephen Williams, which rehearses once per week (currently Thursday nights from 9 to 10:00 pm) with the aim of special music offering for our all-college ecumenical services Sundays at 1 pm, and helping the congregation learn new hymns, psalms, etc. during our college worship. Additionally, the Chapel Choir participates in our Chapel's annual Advent Candlelight Carols worship service, held on three occasions on the last weekend of fall semester. This very big event also features the music of the College Choir and the various scriptural reading surrounding the birth of Jesus from many members of our community.

CONCERT BOARD

The main event for this year's Concert Board was bringing the popular band Blues Traveler to campus. The concert, held on October 12, 1998, had a huge turnout, comprised of Muhlenberg students, students from area colleges, and Allentown residents.

Handbell Choir

The Muhlenberg College Handbell Choir, under Stephen Williams' direction, rehearses weekly in the Chapel on Thursday nights from 8 to 9:00 pm. Depending on the current size of the choir, we will work with one or two octaves worth of bells. The main purpose of this choir is to offer special music for our Sunday all-college worship at 1:00 pm, and to supplement the music of our annual Advent Candlelight Carols worship. Depending on the size of this choir, there may be auditions for this choir.

Dynamics

The Dynamics, Muhlenberg's only student-run A cappella group, had a highly successful and exciting year. The year started out with their debut performance at Rockefeller Center in front of the famed Christmas tree. Many Muhlenberg students and family members were in attendance in NYC on this special holiday evening. Among many other local engagements the Dynamics hosted their second annual A cappella festival in the spring to a packed house and managed to raise over $100 for the Egner Memorial Chapel to a standing-room-only crowd with proceeds going to the Allentown School District Family Centers. With the release of their third album on CD "Under the Full Moonlight" the Dynamics have grown tremendously. Their talents add greatly to the creative and artistic atmosphere of Muhlenberg College.

Row 4: Julie Ziff Sint, Joshua Salzman, Maggie Fallick, Sam Steerman, Steven Dimirsky, Jonathan Levin, Matthew Ginsburg

HILLEL offers a wide variety of cultural, educational, community service, and social events. This year was no exception as they offered a Phillies game, a Kixx game in Philly, laser light show of the Beastie boys, a New York trip to the lower East side, Holocaust trip and Discovery Zone study breaks. The community service this year consisted of baking hamantashen for old age home residents nearby as a mitzvah on Purim and peanut butter and jelly sandwich drive for a shelter downtown. They worked to strengthen Muhlenberg's Jewish community with Purim dress-up party, shabbat dinners, bagel brunches each in honor of a student, shabbat services and one led by students following on Friday nights. In addition, they sent representatives from Hillel to both the Spitzer Forum on Public Policy in Washington, DC. in February and to the AIPAC convention hosted in Philadelphia, in March.

Chapel Christian Community

The Chapel Christian Community, or "Tri-C," is a community of students who live out their faith in a variety of ways, including road trips, discussion groups, weekly Bible study, and monthly dinners. Many of these events are held at the Chapel House, a special interest house which serves as the community home for four chapel students each year. This year's events included a September beach retreat, bowling night, a real Thanksgiving Dinner, a trip to the Crayola factory, and much more! Every Sunday, the entire campus is invited to worship of word and sacrament. All Muhlenberg students are invited to every event.

Campus Christian Fellowship

CCF is a group who is committed to growing up, reaching out and uniting in Christ. Every week the group meets for bible studies, Friday night fellowships and prayer meetings. Also, they do community service such as free snow cones, christmas gift wrapping, Compassion Child. The group also went to a DC Talk concert, a Jars of Clay concert, Disciplesmakers Training Conferences and on a Winter Retreat. All of the activities center around learning about Jesus Christ and the Bible. Through these activities the members hope to strengthen their faith.

Community Service

Row 1: Chrisin DeFrancesco, Sherry Lynn Fazio, Jennifer Zwirn, Theresa Leinker Row 2: Stefan Miller, Jay Mitsch, Mark Shnorhokian

Communities Service at Muhlenberg helps various organizations and people. It reaches them in programs such as Vista, Adopt-a-grandparent, AIDs outreach, America Reads, Daybreak, the Jefferson Muhlenberg Partnership, Homework Club, Hospice and Second Chance. The most noted campus event is the holiday party for the children in which the whole Muhlenberg community bans together and picks gifts to buy off the Giving Tree. Their dedication, smiles and hard work touch everyone in the community.

Jefferson Field Day

By Jay Mitsch

In the springtime there are certain things you can count on; flowers blooming, greener grass, and over 600 Jefferson Elementary Students running around the campus fields on the first study day. The Muhlenberg-Jefferson Fellowship allows for our community and theirs to come together and share wonderful experiences and nothing has ever been as great as the 1999 Jefferson Field Day held on May 6th. This event was a complete success because there were over 250 people of the Muhlenberg family involved. The Jefferson students had to complete seven events with the help of Classroom Leaders, Event Coordinators, Spirit Judges, and just plain ole' goofy Muhlenberg students. Lasting about four hours, both the Muhlenberg and Jefferson students became friends, laughed together, and most importantly, shared a memory of what it is like to be young again.

Academic Organizations

Accounting Society

The Accounting Society is designed for accounting majors, as well as those students interested in the wide variety of career options in accounting. This organization sponsors speakers from different areas of accounting, as well as trips designed to help students decide what area of accounting their interest lies in.

Business and Economic Club

The Business and Economic Club had a busy year. The club brought in three speakers. One speaker, Steven J. Cwienkala Jr., who is a financial consultant from Merrill Lynch, discussed the stock market, how to invest and how to create a mock portfolio. This allowed students to ask questions openly and find out information on the aspect of business field. The second speakers were Jody and George Fedrissi from Omnipoint telecommunications. They discussed the sales and marketing aspect of business with a focus on the wireless communication industry. Also, the club took a trip to the Federal Reserve and Mint in Philadelphia where they received a private tour of the Reserve and learned about money and interest rate are regulated.

Bill Horning, Dominique MArano, Jaime Fabricant, Danielle Kokes, Mark Shnorhokian

Communication Club

The Communication Club led by President Larry Carney, Vice President Steven Grossman, Treasurer Erin Devaney, Secretary Deb Edmund and advisors Professors Sullivan and Leggett. It was re-established during the 1998-1999 school year after a long absence from campus. The club focused on its goals of creating a community among majors, fostering a deeper understanding of the communication process, and bringing to life the many types of professions that those in the field may get involved in after graduation. The club was able to sponsor several speakers on-campus, including President Arthur Taylor and Nickelodeon's Market Researcher Tanya Hands. Also, the club helped students see off campus speakers such as advertising critic Jean Kilborne. The club brought its members together through a Chinese food dinner and a trip to see the film Ed TV.

Investment Society

The Investment Club keeps track of its value of its portfolio. In doing so it educates its members on how to maintain, pick and manage a portfolio. This portfolio contains a wide range of securities which are picked by its members. The more active the participants, the better the portfolio.

Le Circle Français

Le Cerle Français led by President Jenny-Lynn Knotek, Vice President Kim Ilardi and Secretary Megan Long worked to get students interested in the French language and culture. They held weekly 'Table Française' at which students talk in French about both traveling aboard and everyday life. Also, the club participated in the International Christmas Festival and helped collect supplies for the L'Ecole de la Rue school in Dakae, Senegal. This school is for homeless children 3-18 and the club also sent letters they wrote to the students. Other activities included two movies: Ponette and La Séparation, a Moroccan dinner at Manakesh Restaurant and an end of year picnic.

Psi Chi

Psi Chi is the honor society for Psychology. President Erin Quinlivan worked hard to increase the visibility of Psi Chi on campus and provide more recognition for our members, as well as provide more activities pertaining to their interest. This was accomplished by getting Kaplan Testing Services to come and give an information session on the GRE and graduate school and sponsoring a speaker with the Psychology Club. The formal induction of new members was held at the Hoffman House and hosted by President and Mrs. Taylor. Also, Psi Chi wished goodbye to Professor Dr. Graham at a reception in honor of his great service to the college.

Society for Human Resources

The Society for Human Resource Management on campus is part of the human resource profession and it represents over 65,000 professional and 6,000 student members from around the world. The Muhlenberg chapter of the Society of Human Resource Management works with local resource professionals and helps bring programming about the field to the campus by sponsoring speakers and films each year that are of interest to the students.

College Republicans

We had a debate with two former Pa congressman, John Fox (R) and Paul McHale (D), in April. This event was a great success and had a large turn out. This event was important because it educated students on current political developments, and introduced them to political 'insiders'. The amount of participation at this event revealed the rebirth of our club. After a long time of inactivity, the club is gaining in strength and excitement and looking forward to future years.

A DECEPTIVE YEAR

by Mike Falk

The 1998 season started out like many before for the Muhlenberg men's soccer team. After four games, three against nationally ranked teams, the Mules were 3-1 and had captured their fifth consecutive Kwik Goal/T.G.I.Friday's Classic championship. But then came a rare six-match losing streak (five by one goal) that effectively ended 'Berg's streaks of four straight NCAA Tournament appearances and 12 straight winning seasons. The Mules did recover to defeat fifth-ranked Messiah, 2-0, and finish with an 8-8-1 record.

"Our record was very deceptive," noted head coach Jeff Tipping. "All of the characteristics that you would attribute to a losing team were not really present."

Senior Hugh Watters, who had scored one goal in his first three years as a regular player, exploded for a team-leading nine goals, including a hat trick.

SUPERSTARS

This fall, the Muhlenberg Womens' Soccer team won its final six regular-season games to earn its first postseason berth ever. Sweeping Frostburg State and Franklin & Marshall to capture the Eastern College Athletic Conference Mid-Atlantic Championship, they ranked sixth in the Mid-Atlantic region. The team set a final total of 66 goals, which demolished the school record of 38 set the previous season. The defense also had a record-setting season, allowing less than a goal per game (19 in 20) for the first time in the eight years. Superstar Celina Boer set almost every school scoring record, including goals in a season (20 in 1998) and points in a career (108). She was only the third player ever to earn first-team All-Centennial Conference honors three straight years. Jackie Vanderstreet, a four-time All-Conference honoree (twice second team and twice honorable mention), started all but three games in goal the last four years and allowed just over a goal a game.

First-years Nancy Grove and Jennifer Vroman both earned All-Conference recognition as rookies, while gritty Jen Sands '01 is a mere three assists away from Boer's career mark. Defense Allison Fish '00 and Karen Konopelski '00 and Alissa Desiderio '01, all received consideration for the All-Conference honors.

Breakin' in the 'Turf

Written by Captains Becky Pierotti, Beth Hughs, and Peach Reigle

The Muhlenberg Field Hockey team returned to school in August to a brand new astroturf field. After adjusting to the new surface, the field hockey team was nearly unstoppable, winning nine consecutive games. The season became even more exciting when team advanced into the playoffs, a feat that had only been accomplished once before in forty years. The turf helped to make the games more exciting because the new surface required more skill, quickness and finesse on the part of the players. This obviously did not hinder the team's performance, because many scoring records were broken throughout the season and the team ultimately netted over twice the amount of goals from last season.

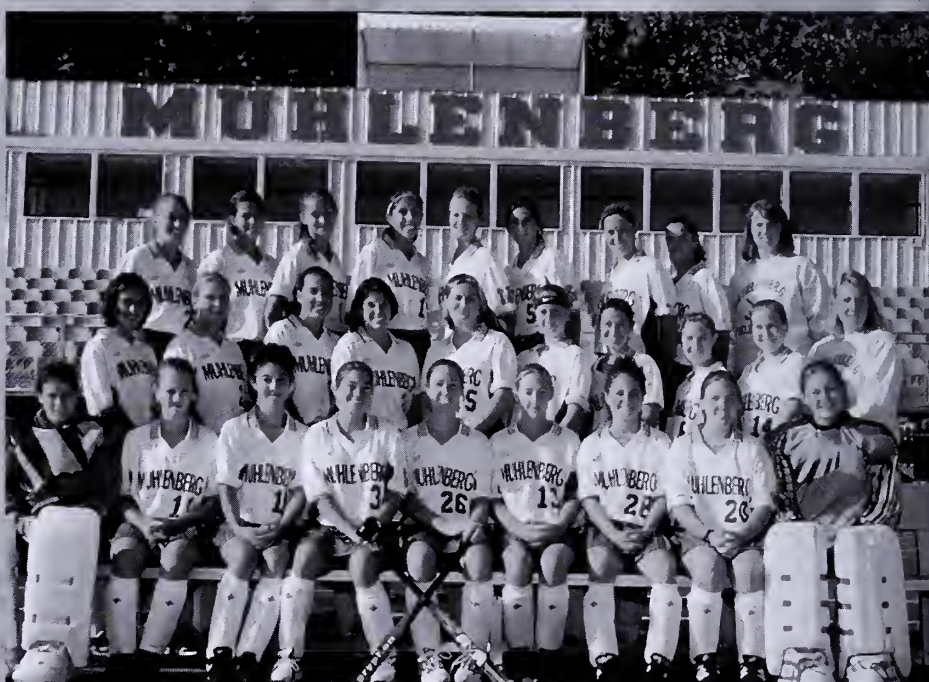

The Field Hockey Team ended its season in double overtime during the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) playoffs to its biggest rival Swarthmore. Despite the ECAC loss, the future of the team looks bright. All eleven starters from this past season will be returning next year, and the team has high hopes to keep breaking new ground.

Record Breakers

by Tri-Captain Pat Shelley

With five minutes left in the fourth quarter, in the last game of his career, Greg Arcuri returned an interception 34 for a touchdown. This touchdown sealed the Mules' first win against Moravian in eleven years. It also capped the Mules' best season turnaround in 25 years, as they improved to 5 and 5, from 1 and 9 a year ago.

Muhlenberg got off to a slow start, with a loss in their first on the brand new AstroTurf stadium, which was built over the summer. However, the Mules went on to win five of the last six games, to finish at .500 for the first time in nine years. Over this stretch, Muhlenberg was hurt by numerous costly injuries, but the team pulled together to score more than 30 points, in five games, for the first time since the famed Tobacco Bowl champions accomplished this in 1946 and '47.

While it was a team effort that allowed the Mules to achieve their success in 1998, there are many individual performers whose ground-breaking performances cannot be overlooked. One such example is record-breaking player Jason Brader, who hold school records for game and season all-purpose yards, career rushing yards, and carries — all over the span of two years! Two other offensive weapons who exploded on to the scene this year were quarterback Michael McCabe, and wide receiver Kenyamo McFarlane, who led the conference in nearly every category in their respective positions.

CHEERLEADING

Cheeleading Takes New Heights

By Tammy Buffton

The Cheerleading Squad has been part of the Muhlenberg College tradition for over fifty years. Over the years, many changes have occurred, by none as ground breaking as in 1998. Over the summer, the old Athletic Stadium was revamped, and now included an all-weather track that is the new home of the Cheerleaders during the football season. In addition, the squad welcomed new stunt coordinators, which was a ground-breaking event in and of itself. The men added height and difficulty to the program this year. With the men's strength, and the women's experience, the team moved to a higher level. The crowd joined in the excitement and admiration as they watched the tosses and stunts soar to new heights. With the leadership of Tammy Buffton '99 and Tom Power '99, this year's squad grew in talent and prestige. The excitement has only just begun and we are looking forward to a bright future for the Cheerleading Squad.

ACROSS THE LINE

For proof of how competitive the Centennial Conference is in women's cross country, consider this: Muhlenberg finished in the top half of every race it ran in 1998, except for the CC Championships. After running well but finishing only sixth out of nine teams at the conference meet, the Mules, who were undefeated (7-0) in dual meets, ran even better at the NCAA Mideast Regional. Five of the team's seven entries ran season-best times as Muhlenberg placed 13th out of 42 teams. Katy duFosse was the only senior to cross the line that day.

The rest of the team will be back, including top runner Laura Roth, who outpaced the field at the Mule Invitational to win her first career race.

The men struggled as their top runner, junior William McElroy, was sidelined with an injury for most of the season. The men did sweep a five-way meet late in the season, the first time they had ever done that.

A Heart-Breaking End

by Emily Gewitz

The Muhlenberg Volleyball team, also known as the Buttermakers, had a season to remember in the fall of 1998. The Stockton Tournament, held in September in New Jersey, proved to be quite an experience for our Lady Mules. They played for 12.5 hours straight, losing their final game against Allentown, by default. The referee missed two out-of-bound calls, thus making the loss even more heart-breaking.

This game, however, does not reflect the tenacity of the team. The Buttermakers were champions at their premier volleyball tournament, held at Muhlenberg. Coach Mike Krause achieved his 100th colligate carrer win at the tournament, with the help of his senior starters: Meredith Cole, Kristen Conboy, Susie Heyel, Kimberly Maurer, Jennifer Morgan, and a powerful team effort. This successful season continued with many record-breaking moments: Kimberly Maurer with 1, 213 career digs, Milena Negrao with 1, 531 carrer assists, and Alison Verduin with most kills in a match.

The Lady Mules ended their season in fifth place at the conference, with a record of 16 wins and 14 losses. Most of these games, amazingly, were only lost by two points. On a sadder note: the Buttermakers had to say goodbye to Coach Krause at the end of the season. He ended his long and illustrious career at Muhlenberg to spend more time with his family.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Followers of the Muhlenberg Men's Basketball have come to expect good play out of the Mules, but the 1998-1999 team may have set some new standards during a two-week stretch near the end of the season—standards the 1999-2000 team will be expected to carry on. As January ended, the team was already enjoying a fine season. Its record of 13-5 had clinched a 17th-consecutive season with double digits in wins and the eighth-straight winning season. The Mules had just closed out a 4-1 road trip—their best in 31 years—and had moved into a tie with season leader Ursinus for first place in the CC East. Ursinus was the opponent in the Memorial Hall on the night of February 2. This was one showdown that did not live up to its billings. Muhlenberg led 23-8 after 10 minutes, and waltzed into first place with a 93-54 victory. Jim Doumato, the lone senior on the team, capped the festive night by scoring his 1,000th career point.

After wrapping up the division title the final week of the regular season, Muhlenberg met Johns Hopkins in the first round of the CC playoffs. The Mules dug themselves out of an early hole against the top defense in Division 3, falling behind 30-13 after 14 minutes. But they fought back and took a 56-53 lead on a three-pointer by junior Chris Kenney with three minutes to play. Hopkins scored the last four points of the game however, for a 57-56 win.

The team's final record of 17-8 marked the third straight season of 15 or more wins—a first for Muhlenberg since 1969-1971. They did it with a strong defense, rebounding, and a balanced scoring attack. Five of the top six scores were juniors.

Making History

The Mules set a school record by keeping 21 of their 26 opponents under 60 points. Muhlenberg ranked nationally with its average of only 52.5 points per game allowed—the program's lowest since 1977, well before the shot clock was introduced.

When it was all said and done, the team finished with a record of 16-10, and its fourth consecutive CC East Division championship. Women's basketball thus joined softball and women's tennis as the only Muhlenberg teams in the last 50 years to win four straight division titles.

Muhlenberg clinched the division title on February 9th, and had more than two weeks to prepare for its first-round playoff game against Western Maryland. In the post season, Muhlenberg pulled away in the second half for a 57-44 victory, setting up a championship game match against Johns Hopkins for the fourth years in a row.

Early in the semi-final game, Jill Roth severely sprained her ankle while running back on defence. She was limited to ten minutes against Hopkins, and without one of its top threats the defense struggled. The Mules shot just 23 percent in a 59-39 loss that ended the season.

The team that comes back for the 1999-2000 season will have a very different look to it, but a slew of talented young players will have a good shot at keeping Muhlenberg atop the division.

With a growing team, the Mules qualified three wrestlers for the NCAA Division III Championships. Highlights from this season were a sweep in a quadrangular meet for the, finishing with their best Centennial Conference record (4-2) and hosting a conference wrestling tournament for the first time in 15 years. It was at the Centennial Conference Championships, held in Memorial Hall on Feb. 20, that the Mules capped their season in style. They finished a solid third, their best showing since winning the title in 1995, and placed five of their 10 wrestlers in the championship finals. Two of those wrestlers, Bill Holsinger and Tyler Cathey, won their respective title bouts to earn the CC's automatic bid to the nationals. Holsinger, at 141 pounds, defeated Martin Scarpato of Gettysburg, the 1998 CC champion at 126, by a 5-2 decision in the final. He finished his season with a record of 25-8, including a team-best eight pins. Cathey became the Mules' third consecutive heavyweight titlist his record was 10-6. Faust took the roundabout route to the NCAA Tournament, receiving the CC's lone wild-card berth after losing a tight 5-3 overtime decision to Ursinus' Bob Onorato in the 149-pound final. He was rewarded by the league's coaches for a 28-7 record that included a 15-match winning streak. Faust's 28 wins tied the school record. None of the three won a bout there, but that hardly mattered. Considering that all three were freshmen (as was Adam Horner, who lost in the CC 174-pound final), there's a good chance they'll be back-and maybe next time they'll bring some of their friends with them.

Right: Adam Faust '02 pins his opponent in a very hurtful manner that makes it look like he has no leg.

Winning Streaks

The Muhlenberg baseball team finished the 1999 season on a seven-game winning streak to tie defending champion Johns Hopkins for fourth place in the Centennial Conference, where previously the mules never finished higher than ninth. A symbol of victory, lefty Marc Lezinski completed a month on the sidelines with a shoulder injury and returned to the field to win his last four starts, pitching three straight shutouts and setting a school record with 22 consecutive scoreless innings. Another strength to the team, Junior outfielder Chuck Draper hit .311 with four home runs and 22 RBI to earn first-team All-CC honors. Freshman outfielder Joshua Carter received honorable mention after hitting a team-best .325 and stealing a school-record 23 bases. He helped Muhlenberg tie a Division III record with 16 stolen bases in one game against Beloit. The Mules won 10 of their final 12 games, including nine of their last 10 in the Centennial Conference, to finish with 17 wins, the third-most in school history.

SOFTBALL

Not all win-loss records are created equally. To finish with a very average-sounding 24-21 mark in 1999, the Muhlenberg softball team had to get past an above-average schedule. The Mules played 36 games against teams with winning records, 32 against teams that won 20 or more games and 19 against teams ranked at the end of the season.

The team then accepted a bid to the ECAC South Tournament, its first postseason berth since 1992. Muhlenberg lost to King's, 1-0, in the championship game. The Mules set or tied 51 school records during the season, many because of senior catcher Elizabeth Billie, who was named the CC player of the year. Billie, a first-team All-Region selection for the second straight season, hit .423 and set season marks for hits (60), doubles (13) and extra-base hits (20) and career records for hits (172), doubles (36), extra-base hits (50) and RBI (82).

Also making a mark on the record book was first-team All-CC centerfielder Ali Hatola, who stole 100 bases in her career with a milestone previously reached by only 11 players in Division III history. Pitcher Angie Tyson gave the team a boost in her rookie year, going 12-8 with a 2.20 ERA and three shutouts, including a 10-inning gem against Elizabethtown.

GO MULES!

Muhlenberg's new all-weather track paid immediate dividends, as the men's and women's teams combined to break five school records in their first season on the surface.

Junior Matt Hazelton set the 400-meter standard of 49.11 seconds at the Mules' first home meet since 1990, then captured the 400-meter title in a photo finish at the Centennial Conference championships. He also was part of the record-setting 4x100-meter relay team. Freshman Jim Hayes' throw of 182 feet, 8 inches set a record in the javelin.

For the women, senior Stephanie Kaliner broke her own records in the long and triple jumps, and sophomore Katrina Beck won the CC high jump gold at both the indoor and outdoor championships. Junior Erin Quinlivan also put her name in the record book as Muhlenberg's first female pole vaulter.

THE GAME

Almost may count in horseshoes, but not in lacrosse, as Muhlenberg found out in 1999. The Mules were within two goals in the second half of all but one of their 14 games, but won only four due to a lack of depth.

The team's two seniors went out in style: Katie Kenny became the first player in team history named to the All-Centennial Conference first team after setting school records for career goals (152) and points (183) and season goals (50) and hat tricks (12). Allyson Crooks finished as the program's fifth all-time leading scorer with 95 career points.

MEN'S TENNIS

The Muhlenberg men's tennis team kept things interesting and successful in the spring of 1999.

Take the Gettysburg match. Sophomore Adam Evans arrived just moments prior to the start of the match because the car his teammate was driving suffered a blowout en route. Evans then proceeded to win his No. 3 singles match, the last on the court, 7-5 in the third set, as Muhlenberg eked out a 4-3 win; its first against Gettysburg since 1990.

The Mules finished with a 7-5 record to post back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since 1989-90 and tied their best Centennial Conference record ever (4-3). Senior Jon Mandelbaum (7-4-1 at No. 1) and Sophomore Robby Richman (8-1 at No. 2) combined with Evans (7-2) to give the team a formidable top of the ladder. Mandelbaum and Richman were 6-4 at first doubles.

In the fall, Richman reached the semifinals of the prestigious Rolex East Regional Tournament. Muhlenberg also played two dual matches against Division II schools.

A Bright Future

A young Muhlenberg team with only one junior and no seniors won four in a row for its longest streak since 1993, but then dropped its final five matches to finish with a 5-9 record.

Sophomore Stephanie Powers went 9-4 at No. 2 and earned second-team All-Centennial Conference honors. Sophomores Kerri Waldowski and Marissa Lutzer and freshman Kristen DiLorenzo all reached the second round of the CC Individual Tournament before losing to three of the four eventual semifinalists.

Stephanie Powers '01 stands in her ready position to return the ball to her opponent.

The 1998 Women's Tennis Team

After two years of close misses, the Muhlenberg golf team earned its first bid to the NCAA Tournament in 1999. The Mules tied Ursinus for the Centennial Conference title in 1997, but the NCAA took third-place Western Maryland. The Mules finished in the top three in nine of their 15 tournaments during the school year (winning fall tourneys at Gettysburg and Moravian) and played close to Western Maryland. At the CC Tournament, Muhlenberg grabbed the lead in the second of three rounds and held on to defeat the Green Terror by five strokes.

As usual, balance was the key to the Mules' success. The team placed four golfers (two juniors and two sophomores) in the top 11, with Matt Berman and Matt Skilton finishing fifth and seventh, respectively, to earn All-CC honors for the second straight year. The NCAA Tournament was held at Williams College. The last time a Jeff Tipping-coached team participated in national play at Williams was in 1995, when men's soccer reached the semifinals. The golf team set realistic goals of finishing in the top 15 and defeating regional rivals Susquehanna and New Jersey. Muhlenberg wound up 18th, ahead of New Jersey but two places and seven strokes behind Susquehanna. It was the highest national finish for a CC golf team since Gettysburg placed 17th in 1994.

Dear Melissa:

We are very proud of you. You have grown into a fine adult and accomplished much in the last four years. You have shown you are a loyal to your family and friends.
You have proven you are a great employee in every job you had including your Washington, D.C. Internship and work experience for President Taylor. Your exceptional social skills, courage, and positive can do attitude will take you far. You certainly did not get this from us, so tell us, who are your real parents (just kidding). We love you always, Mom & Dad.

Seth, you have "Painted" a picture of much joy, happiness and laughter throughout your life. We are grateful for your specialness and are overflowing with pride and love. We pray that you will find peace and happiness everyday and that your every dream will become a reality.

Congratulations to you and your classmates.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Brooke and Chief

Dearest Kim,

Graduations are celebrations as we continue to enrich our lives. Your life has been a priceless gift. In addition to lessons learned in school, they also came when your warm and caring heart answered the needs of others.

We hope you will cherish all your yesterdays,
Dream tomorrow,
Live everyday, nourishing and inspiring all
whose lives you touch,
May all life experiences be magical challenging, rare and beautiful.

You truly are and always will be "the wind beneath our wings."

With pride and love,
Hedy Mommy, Dad, and (Baby sis) Jodi

"May your heart always be joyful,
May your song always be sung,
May you stay forever young."

Dear Kim,
May the journey ahead be filled with a sense of wonder, beauty, and discovery. May you continue to be the beacon of light who shines and warms the hearts of family, friends, and less fortunate in your tireless efforts to create a better world for all.

SENIORS' LAST WORDS

Aaron David Kapner

Dear Muhlenberg,
Well, After five long years I'm leaving you. True, I wish I could've done more while I was here, but...hey forget regrets, right? You taught me some great stuff especially out of the classroom-always believe in yourself, even when it seems like you're the only one. Be nice to others you never know when you'll need their help. Don't let people's attitudes upset you-we all have issues. Thanks for allowing me to find what I want and the desire to go get it. Auf Wiedersehn, Muhlenberg

Gwendolyn Sarver

"Well I thank you for your beauty, for your friendships for your love. Sometimes I miss your understanding, but more often miss your hugs. But nothing ever stays the same as it was." Thank you for everything my sisters & my friends. I love you and will miss you all! Gwen

Mom and Dad

Without your love, support and encouragement I would not be the person I would not be the person that I am today- I love you I owe Muhlenberg for a lot of great opportunities and experiences. The greatest of all was meeting you Lori. I love you always and forever. Great times, great memories, and great friends, Thanks TKE.

Susan Kraaij

The past four years have flown by faster than I ever could have imagined. I have grown a great deal and much of that can be attributed to the great friend I've made here. I hope we are all never too far at heart.

I WOULD LIKE TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO THANK A VERY SPECIAL MAN WHO WAS INSTRUMENTAL IN MY EDUCATION HERE AT THE 'BERG, MR. JOHN TONDERA OF CAMPUS SAFETY. WHEN MY PEERS GOT A LITTLE CRAZY AND THREW A PARTY (WITH ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES, MIND YOU) HE STOPPED US IN TIME TO GET TO THE LIBRARY AND REALIZE OUR MISTAKE. SO ONCE GAIN THANK YOU, I WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER YOU, AND TO QUOTE A SONG FROM THE KARATE KID "YOU'RE THE BEST AROUND. NOTHING IS EVER GONNA KEEP YOU DOWN."

Dennis J. Slade

It's certainly not my classes from which I've obtained the bulk of my education: it has been what I've learned from my interactions. Whether conscious of it or not, several people have indelibly marked my life, and that has been the greatest gift. I thank both those who are aware of their roles and those who aren't from my heart. I can only hope to have done the same.

To those special people who walked into my life during the past four years + touched my heart in magical ways, to the guy who taught me forgiveness + broke down the wall, to the girl who listened to me cry + showed me the art of snowtubing, to those who taught me cultivation, to the best big brother, to the girl who listened to Air Supply in Prosser, to the lady who became my mom at school, to my parents for their unconditional everything, to the amazing one - you really are my gift...THANKS SO MUCH.

Anne Hudzinski

This message is dedicated to the students, faculty, and staff that have made my Muhlenberg stay so pleasurable: Four years ago, I arrived on Prosser's doorstep scared of the unknown years to come. Looking back, I realize I thrived because of your undying support, friendship, love and dedication. I excelled because you pushed me to think beyond my comfortable limits. For everything you have said, I thank you. I will hold on to these memories of these years forever.

Marisa Iannella

Mom, Dad+ Steven-

Thank you for everything. I couldn't have done it without all of your love, support and encouragement. Beth, Jill, Allie, Jill+Megan-

I hope that your future's bring you all the happiness in the world! I love you guys and I'll always be here for you.

In the words of my father: your education, your degree, is the only thing no one can ever take away from you; they can deny you your freedom, they can take away your material possessions, but that which you have learned is always yours. I can never repay or thank my mom and dad enough for the sacrifices they did to send me to Muhlenberg. My love to them, and ALL is in honor of them. We all partake in the glory. And the sky was all violets...

A happy person is not a person in certain set of circumstances, but rather a person with a certain set of attitudes. That which doesn't kill me makes me stronger. Thank you, Mom + Dad! This would not have been possible without you!

Julie Boero

I would like to thank Muhlenberg for providing me with 4 unforgettable years! I've met some wonderful people whom I'll never forget. I could not have made it without you! Thanks for everything and so much more! Good luck wherever life leads you! I especially would like to thank my parents for all of their love, support, and encouragement. I could have never done it without you. Thank you so much! I guess this is goodbye college, hello real world!

My experiences at Muhlenberg College have been unforgettable. I'm grateful to have been able to get to know many of my professors specifically Dr. McCain, Dr. Meier, and Dr. Neisenbaum. All of my Phi Mu sisters will always be in my heart forever, the Iotas especially. Without their support, life at Muhlenberg would not have been the same. Thank you to Meg Brown for making me stay and being one of my best friends and to Karen Jones and Susan Kraaij for being great friends! Thank you to Rebecca Wingert for having fun in lab and being such an inspiration to me. My finace Chris Ryan has been there for every experience as well and has supported me all the way. Thanks Honey! Lastly, I cannot thank my parents enough for the love, support, and pride they have given to me. Without Mom and Dad I don't believe I would of made it through. I love you!

Kelly Sczerba

Cheers to the class of 1999!! i'm certain i have the most wonderful friends in the world, thank God we found each other when i most needed you! "And ever has it been that love knows not its own depth until the hour of separation."(K. Gibran) i shall miss you all with the sincerest love one has to offer a friend, especially the Iotas plus one. Please remember that life is not a dress rehearsal, be the hero of your own story, and to laugh at mistakes; because it's only life after all!! Thanks to Mum, Dad and Amy, who had faith in me until I found my own. "In the end, nothing we say or do in this lifetime will matter as much as the way we have loved each other."(Daphne Rose Kingma) Thanks for letting me love you — you are what makes my life amazing.

THE COLOPHON

Volume 107 of Ciarla, the Muhlenberg College's 1999 yearbook, was printed by Taylor Publishing Company, 1550 West Mockingbird Lane, Dallas, Texas. Representing Taylor Publishing, Ed Patrick Jr. Served as our local yearbook sales representative and Liz Hernandez served as our account executive.

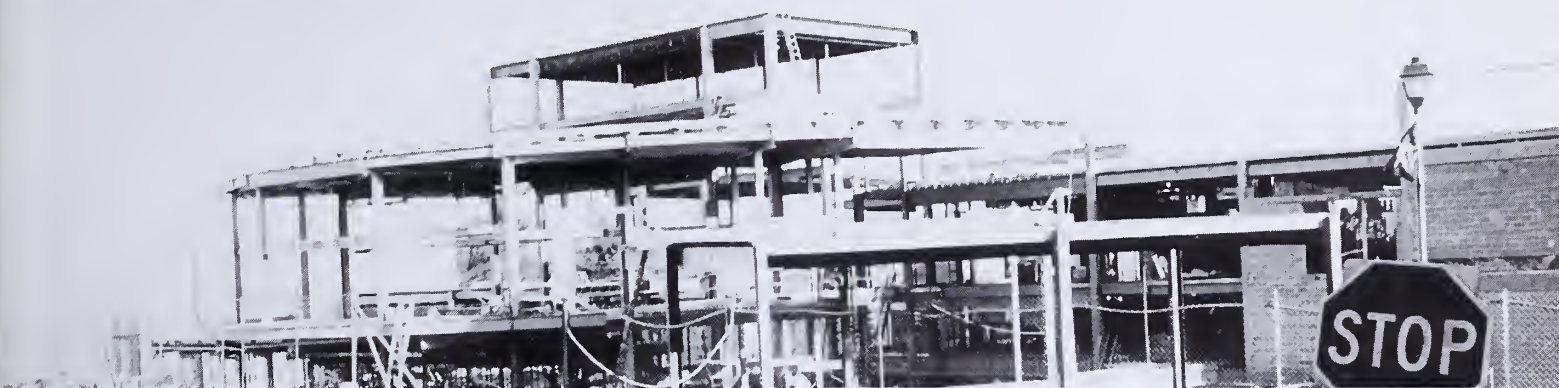

The cover of Ciarla 1998 is leather embossed with a customized stamped foil. Paper stock of 80lbs. enamel was used throughout the entire book. All layouts were done using a 16 column method. All headlines are a 48/48 opus; body copy is 12/14 opus captions are 10/12 opus, and folios are 10/23 opus.

Portraits were taken by Merin Studios., 2981 Grant Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 19114, as well as a majority of the candid shots and sports photos. Merin's representative was Steve Merin, Mike Falk and Muhlenberg College Public Relations Department supplied both sports and general campus photographs.

Volume 107 of Ciarla is 272 pages in length, 600 copies were ordered, 450 for graduating seniors, 30 for administrators and departments of Muhlenberg College, and 120 ordered by underclassmen. The total publishing costs for Ciarla 1999 was approximately $29,000.00. All layout and copy work was done using Ultravision for Windows by Taylor Publishing. The office of Ciarla was located in the basement of Prosser Hall. The office telephone is (610)-821-3237. All correspondence should be sent to Ciarla, Box 2762, Muhlenberg College, 2400 West Chew Street, Allentown, PA 18104-5596.

A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

The process, the creation, and the labor for this book has been an experience to remember. It has taught me not only how to produce a published work, but also the fundamentals of leadership and humanity. I hand this book over to a pair of very capable hands, Andrea Nylund '02 and Melissa Targum '02. I wish them the best of luck and hope that they too learn what I have from this position.

For the completion of this book, I would like to thank our faculty advisor Jenifer Lembo. Her perseverance and dedication to the yearbook were well appreciated in her first year here at Muhlenberg. Together we learned more than we ever wanted to know about yearbooks. A special thanks also goes to Ed Patrick, Jr. our local representative from Taylor Publishing Company. Without his help, I wouldn't have known where to begin with this book, in its design and production.

From the Muhlenberg students, faculty and staff a special thanks goes to Dean Rudy Ehrenberg, Muhlenberg's Student Council and Jane Schubert for their help and support in this learning year.

Thanks to my staff for their hard work this year. A note of appreciation goes to Megan Woodcock, Assistant Editor of Ciarla; if it were not for her help this summer the Activities section would have failed, instead of its success this year. I also thank Marianne Koiva for her dedication during the summer month which I was on campus completing the book.

A very special thank you goes to my caring roommate; without her secretarial skills many of the photographs for this book would not have been scheduled.

Thanks to EVERYONE for their support this year and good luck to all in the future wherever it may lead you.
